OFF WITH THE OLD LOVE AND ON WITH THE NEW

Fred Wundenberg left for the Colonias on the Mariposa Wednesday night.
He will return a benedict to his friends saw. An Australian bride is awaiting him there. After attending to some business matters, the bride and groom will come to Honolulu to make their permanent home.

Strange as it may seem, coincident with the news of Mr. Wundenberg's departure for the Colonias to marry, came the story that Mrs. J. A. Calhoun, of San Francisco, whom the courts say Mr. Wundenberg jilted sometime ago, had compromised her breach of promise suit for nearly $50,000. This is a big sum of money to act as a balm for a woman's wounded affections, but such is stated to have been paid to her by Mr. Wundenberg to bring the case to an end.

Mr. Wundenberg's associates in business here say that the suit was compromised as stated in the San Francisco papers, but that his departure for Australia had no connection whatever with the case. Mr. Wundenberg has suddenly sprung into prominence, according to the Coast files, as a sugar millionaire, which will be surprising news both to Mr. Wundenberg and his friends.
The San Francisco Call of September 1 has the following:

OAKLAND, Sept. 5.—Mrs. Julia A. Calhoun has won every point in her suit against Frederick A. Wundenberg for breach of promise, and the deeds to the property in dispute have been placed upon record in this county. The millionaire Hawaiian sugar planter has compromised the suit brought by the lady and a settlement in full has been made. The lady receives the property at 941 Filbert street, the house and furniture and a substantial cash payment which, while not the full amount of $50,000 sued for, very nearly approaches that sum.

The suit was brought on March 1, 1900, and has been pending ever since. Just as the suit was brought Wundenberg left California for the Hawaiian Islands in order to avoid service, and this caused a great deal of delay. The case is still pending upon some demurrers filed by Wundenberg to the service of the summons by publication, but the dismissal is ready to be filed, and the deeds in the compromise are already of record.

Frederick A. Wundenberg is a very wealthy Hawaiian sugar planter. The plaintiff is Mrs. Julia A. Calhoun, the widow of the late Dr. J. G. Calhoun of Willows. Mrs. Calhoun is a handsome woman and is possessed of a considerable estate left by her husband, so that she was independent when she met Wunden-berg.

The sugar planter and the widow first met several years ago, and the Hawaiian became much interested. He repeatedly proposed, but he was refused as often as he offered his hand, his heart and his sugar stacks. At last the Hawaiian became very insistent. He went to the Hawaiian Islands, where his sisters live, and sent for Mrs. Calhoun to visit them. Mrs.
Calhoun finally decided that she would make the trip. She went to Honolulu and stayed at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel for a month, during which time she visited the family of Wundenberg, and was received into the best society in the islands.
It was during this trip that Wundenberg proposed that they get married in Honolulu. To this Mrs. Calhoun demurred upon the ground that his family might think that she had followed him to Honolulu in order to marry him. Wunden-berg pleaded that he was compelled to go to Australia, and that he wanted the ceremony performed before he went, but Mrs. Calhoun replied that she would consider the matter upon her and his return to San Francisco. So he went to Australia and she came back to San Francisco.

Wundenberg later proposed that they marry and settle down in Oakland. He agreed to settle upon her a house and lot, $25,000 in sugar stock and other property.
She selected the house and lot, which was purchased for $15,000, and furnished. Wun-denberg ordered his agent to put the property in her name, but it was put in his name, though she went to live there.
Wundenberg was at this time in the Hawaiian Islands.

Then Mrs. Calhoun noticed that there came a change in his letters, and at last they stopped altogether. Then the agents and attorneys began trying to dispossess her, and the suit for the property and the breach of promise action resulted.

Then Wundenberg began negotiations for a compromise, with the result noted.

Mrs. Calhoun believes that it was Mr.
Wundenberg's family that caused the breach between them.
A year or more ago Mr. Wundenberg and Mrs. Calhoun were seen together almost daily on the streets of San Francisco. The lady in the case was as stalwart as Wundenberg himself, being fully six feet high, broad-shouldered and of the general aspect of a female grenadier. She was handsome in a way, her clear complexion and blue eyes and fine figure being as noticeable as her determined look. There was a general impression among Wunden-berg's friends that he had caught a Tartar and it now appears that they were right.

LOCOMOTIVE RUNS WILD IN ILLINOIS

Engineer was Asleep in the Cab and Knew
Nothing.

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—A special to the Chronicle from Quincy, Ill., says: A wild engine endangered scores of lives on the passenger trains, and A. J.
Arnold, an old engineer on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad had a thrilling experience. Shortly after midnight Arnold, who was pulling one of the fast trains on the road, backed down to the station to meet her on her arrival. The engine was running slow, and on reaching the station Fireman Smith jumped off and entered the depot, supposing the locomotive would come to a standstill and wait for the train. When Smith came out of the station he was horrified to see the engine tearing over the viaduct toward Missouri. The terrified fireman knew that something was wrong and hastened to the train dispatcher's office and gave the alarm. A message was sent to the operator at Moody, seven miles from Quincy, notifying him that there was an engine "running wild," and requesting him to turn it on the siding at Moody, and to hold the St. Louis passenger train north-bound, which was then due there.

The Moody operator obeyed instructions, barely having time to catch the St. Louis train, which was switched out of harm's way. In a few minutes the runaway engine could be seen coming slowly up the grade, and it "died" of its own efforts in sight of Moody station. Conductor Oglesby of the St.
Louis train, climbed into the cab and found Arnold sitting on the seat in the cab fast asleep, with his head out of the window. Arnold was both surprised and terrified when he realized what had happened.

The Chicago train from Kansas City is also due at Moody right after the St. Louis train, and but for the lack of steam and the prompt word sent Moody station, one or both trains might have been wrecked, and many lives lost.

ROAD TO QUARANTINE WHARF.

Superintendent McCandless of the Board of Public Works was surprised yesterday at the statement in a morning paper that there was a conflict between the Territorial Government and the National Government as to the Channel wharf and its uses. "The wharf was built for use as a quarantine wharf and will be maintained as such," said he, "so far as I now know. Early in the present year the right was secured from the National Government to construct a road to the wharf over the Government's land. We shall take steps to have the right of way for the road condemned over the lands of the Bishop Estate and when we reach the Government reserve shall build through it. At the end of the road nearest the wharf two drawbridges will be built connecting it with the road. These will be kept raised and guarded whenever there is any epidemic such as the plague of early this year."

"I see," said the friend who had been invited to dinner, "that the roast beef is very rare. I really believe you had it cooked that way because you know my fondness for it." "So glad it pleases you," replied Mrs. Hiram Offen, "but we had no say about it. That's the way the policeman on this beat likes it."— Philadelphia Press.

Didn't follow directions: Indignant patron—"You advertise to cure consumption, don't you?" Dr. Quack—"Yes, sir; I never fail when my instructions are followed." Indignant patron—"My son took your medicine for a year and then died." Dr. Quack—"My instructions were not followed; I told him to take it for two years."—Tit-Bits.

DEMOCRATS ARE DIVIDED

Two Factions in the Field—Fusion With Independents Proposed.

Two factions have sprung up among the Democrats. One is headed by E. R.
McClanahan, Prince David, John Wise and W. H. Cornwell. The other is headed by Col. McCarthy, chairman of the Territorial Committee. It is said of the first faction that they desire to affiliate with the Independent or Home Rule party and run with them at the coming election in November.

On the other hand Col. McCarthy, who though chairman of the Territorial Committee has not been consulted in any of the meetings of the other faction. It is stated of Col. McCarthy that he has been given no intimation of the formation of campaign plans which the opposing faction have mapped out.

Further than this there is a likelihood of a third faction being formed.
These will vote for representative men of the islands, and such names as J. O.
Carter and S. M. Damon have been proposed.

A HALF-WITTED THIEF.

Maunaula, the Youth With the Legs, Steals Various Articles.

Maunaula, the half-witted Hawaiian youth whose eccentricities of dress and over-indulgence in the wearing of leis have made him one of Honolulu's odd street characters, was arrested last evening at the band concert at the Hawaiian hotel and booked at the station house. In his possession were several articles belonging to prominent people of this city, the loss of which had already been reported to the police.

Before the band concert commenced Maunaula promenaded the lanais of the hotel with an air of supreme authority. He was decked out in a white suit, the trousers being what are termed "high waters." Before the glass case containing photographs in the hotel lobby he occasionally busied himself in arranging a lady's back hair comb in his own not overlong hirsute crop, and placed his hat upon his head jauntily with a slant over one eye. A carnation lei around his hat, one around his neck, and a bright neck scarf completed his adornments. In his own mind he probably believed he was gotten up "to kill." He was. The tourists gazed after him in wonder and their glances put him in high glee. He simpered, tugged at his coat-tails in the manner of a young lady holding her skirts in muddy weather, and created no end of amusement. These actions finally caught the eye of Frank Ferreira and Officer Hanrahan. Ferreira went over to him and asked the young fellow a few questions. In his hand he held a lady's purse. Ferreira took it from him arriving at the conclusion that Maunaula was the thief who had stolen the purse of Mrs. Paul Neumann sometime ago. In it was a letter addressed to a prominent young lady of this city, and 55 cents in change. After an investigation it developed that the purse belonged to Mrs. King, the florist, who had reported the loss yesterday morning. When taken it contained between $3 and $4. Maunaula had been in the store during the morning.

In the prisoner's pockets were found a check for $33 belonging to Mrs. Neumann, which had been missing for about two weeks. It seems that Maunaula had been cared for by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Neumann and took advantage of their kindness to commit petty larceny. From an apparently harmless and half-witted boy, Maunaula has developed into the sort of person who may need attention from the Insane Asylum authorities.

Chief Charger of the Cheyenne tribe is dead.

Hammer.

Two famous old mansions whose history is replete with the associations of hospitality, royal fetes, and gatherings of naval officers of all nations during the days of the monarchy, were yesterday disposed of to the highest bidder.
One was the famous home of Bernice Pauahi Bishop, the founder of the Kanehameha Schools and other public institutions. In it also dwelt in her earlier years, Queen Liliuokalani, until she wedded Governor Dominis and took up her residence at Washington Place, where she now lives. This was the Arlington Hotel, which was sold in order that it be removed to allow for a new street to be cut through its luxurious gardens, and for the erection of a modern business block. By the last fall of the auctioneer's hammer yesterday, the halo of reverence for the place where once trod women whose lives were strangely linked with the destinies of their country, fell away, displaced by the needs of a city's growing business interests. The hotel went for $180.
Seventy dollars is the sum that the famous old McGrew mansion on Hotel street, brought under Auctioneer will E. Fisher's hammer at noon yesterday.
The mansion which was famous in the early days of its existence for the gayety of its entertainments, and which cost many thousands of dollars to build, went for a paltry $70. Even the staircases cost more than $300. The stone in the building is valuable, and was at first proposed as a rubble for the new Alexander Young building, which will occupy its site. The property fell to John Onderkirk, who is required to remove the material in the building within thirty days.

The fine pavement tiles surrounding the house were knocked down to James Steiner for $19. In the estimation of contractors he bought a bargain.

Hugh McIntyre's residence fronting on King street, fared better in proportion to the amount realized, than the McGrew house. Joe Cabral bought the place for $45. Will E. Fisher was the auctioneer, and he worked hard, but there were few people on hand to make bidding active.

The Arlington Hotel was knocked down to John Onderkirk. The main building is built of coral stone and will be very valuable in building operations.
The fence and coral stone foundation in front of the McGrew house went to the same bidder for $25. The most valuable part of this purchase are the stone posts. In the rear of the lot, a number of coral foundation stones sold for $1. Archie Young purchased the plants, ferns and shrubs which have adorned the Arlington grounds, paying $37.50 therefor.

The stable and sheds belonging to the McIntyre house realized $62.50, nearly $20 more than the residence.
